CHUMPHON

Chumphon province has been recorded and known since 1098 as the border city of Nakhon Si Thammarat (province). "Goat Symbol" was used as the province's emblem. Chumphon was a dominion in south of Ayutthaya Kingdom in the era of Tri Loka Nat majesty king, reign in the period 5 and had been officially organized as Chumphon country by the King, thereafter the administration has been changed and Chumphon has became "Province".

The name "Chumphon" has been assumed variously in its origin meaning, such as "Chumnumpol" (merging of people) because it was a frontier of marching, either from north or south, people from both parts came and were together, then the name "Chumnumpol" had been later called "Chumphon". Another assuming of name "Chumphon" is from "Chumnumphon" which means gathering of "Blessing", because before the marching, the commanders usually worshiped the God and asked the God to bring them the victory in war in order to encourage their team and when the wishes were grant, they then later called the place "Chumnumphon" or "Prachumphon".

Another assuming is that the name was made from Banyan Tree. There are plenty of Banyan Trees in the area where Chumphon locate because it's located at the Ta-Pau riverside, banyan tree has also became a symbol of Chumphon.
